

On the distribution of the digits of quotients of integers and primes

Alessandro Zaccagnini

Università di Parma

We investigate the distribution of the digits of quotients of randomly chosen positive integers taken from the interval $[1, T]$, improving the previously known error term for the counting function as $T \rightarrow +\infty$. We also solve some natural variants of the problem concerning points with prime coordinates and points that are visible from the origin.